4. PRICING POLICY

=====

All prices listed in this document are indicative and may change depending on:

- Event date
- Number of attendees
- Venue
- Location
- Vendor availability
- Event duration
- Production requirements
- Décor requirements
- Catering menu
- Entertainment requirements

A final quotation is issued only after the event requirements have been reviewed by the event planning team.

Prices are exclusive of applicable taxes unless explicitly stated otherwise.

The company generally requires a 50% advance payment to confirm an event booking.

The remaining 50% is payable according to the payment schedule specified in the signed proposal.

For certain large-scale events, a different payment schedule may apply.

5. VENUE POLICY

=====

BlueSky Events can recommend and coordinate venues based on:

- Event type
- Guest count
- Budget
- Location
- Parking requirements
- Accommodation requirements
- Audio-visual requirements
- Catering requirements

Popular venue categories include:

- Five-star hotels
- Business hotels
- Convention centres
- Resorts
- Banquet halls
- Outdoor venues
- Beach venues

- Private estates

Venue availability must be confirmed before it can be included in a final proposal.

Venue rental charges are normally billed separately unless included in the selected package.

=====

6. CANCELLATION POLICY

Cancellation terms are specified in the signed event agreement.

General guidelines:

- Cancellation more than 60 days before the event may qualify for partial refund depending on non-refundable vendor commitments.
- Cancellation between 30 and 60 days before the event may result in forfeiture of part of the advance payment.
- Cancellation less than 30 days before the event may result in significant cancellation charges because vendors and venues may already have been contracted.

The exact refund amount is determined based on the signed contract and payments already made to third-party vendors.

Vendor-specific cancellation charges may be passed on to the client.

7. CLIENT ONBOARDING PROCESS

=====

The standard process is:

Step 1:

Client submits event requirements.

Step 2:

Event manager conducts a discovery call.

Step 3:

13. INTERNAL EVENT MANAGER GUIDELINES

Event managers should not provide a final price to a client based only on information in this knowledge base.

The manager should collect the event date, location, guest count, event type, and major requirements before preparing a quotation.

If information is unavailable, the client should be informed that the requirement needs to be confirmed by the relevant team.

The AI assistant must not claim that a venue, vendor, artist, or event date is available unless availability has been confirmed.

The AI assistant should distinguish between:

- Indicative pricing
- Confirmed pricing
- Estimated availability
- Confirmed availability
- General company policy
- Client-specific contract terms

Client-specific contracts take precedence over general information in this document.

14. RAG RESPONSE GUIDELINES

=====

When answering questions using this knowledge base:

1. Retrieve the most relevant sections before generating an answer.
2. Do not invent pricing, availability, vendors, venues, or policies.
3. If the retrieved information is insufficient, state that the information is not available in the knowledge base.
4. When possible, mention the source section used for the answer.
5. For pricing questions, clarify that prices are indicative unless a confirmed quotation is available.
6. For booking-related questions, collect missing information such as date, location, guest count, and event type.
7. Contract-specific information overrides general company policy.
8. Do not treat examples as confirmed client quotations.
